Many of the lights of happiness of this world are feeble and even ignoble but one must see to live, and even a penny dip is exalted if it save one from darkness of despair. It is not given to every one to light his way with a sun, or a full moon or even a star.

Mary E. Wilkins

Thompson's Progress. Hynes.
There's nothing like being appreciated by one's husband at any rate," said Mrs Thompson with an independent nod "You never know me till we were married you saw me from a distance —

The object of education is to make men, to produce the character of the man of honor to give men the inward grace of the gentleman, which cannot manifest itself out-
